Purchase seeds and other agricultural input from Govt. Authorised vendors.

After 6 months when crop cultivation buys healthy crops from our impaneled farmer.

Cleaning and grading for popping.

Traditionally for popping, we do pop in earthenware.

After popping cleaning and grading, go for a quality check and also go to the lab for determining toxicity.

After lab information, we do packing as desired by the client's specification.

The government has awarded Geographical Indication (GI) tag to Mithila Makhana, a move which is expected to help growers get the maximum price for their premium produce.

Benefits of GI Tag

- It provides legal protection to Indian Geographical Indications thus preventing unauthorized use of the registered GIs by others.
- It promotes economic prosperity of producers of goods produced in a geographical territory.
- The GI protection in India leads to recognition of the product in other countries thus boosting exports.

Mithila Makhana or Makhan is a special variety of aquatic fox nut cultivated in Mithila region of Bihar and Nepal.

GI Tag

- A GI is primarily given to an agricultural, natural or a manufactured product (handicrafts and industrial goods) originating from a definite geographical territory.
- Typically, such a name conveys an assurance of quality and distinctiveness, which is essentially attributable to the place of its origin.
- GI tag in India is governed by Geographical Indications of Goods (Registration & Protection) Act, 1999. It is issued by the Geographical Indications Registry (Chennai).
- This tag is valid for a period of 10 years following which it can be renewed.
